

R6 Daily News Digest - Thursday, December 6, 2012

R6ASK to:
Sent by: Rebecca Mayer
Bcc: Philip Dellinger

12/06/2012 11:04 AM

From: R6ASK
To:
Bcc: Philip Dellinger/R6/USEPA/US
Sent by: Rebecca Mayer/R6/USEPA/US

R6 Daily News Digest 12-06-12.pdf

1 - Uranium Energy Corp Receives Final Authorization for the Company's Goliad ISR Project in South Texas, Project is Now Fully Permitted for Production, Unknown Source, 12/05/2012

2 - EPA allows UEC to mine uranium in Goliad County, Victoria Advocate, 12/06/2012

3 - Environmental Protection Agency approves uranium mine operation in Goliad County, Corpus Christi Caller-Times, 12/05/2012

4 - EPA to Move Ahead With Rule on Sulfur Content for Some Types of Diesel Fuel, BNA's Daily Environment Report, 12/06/2012

5 - White House Begins Review of Final Rule That Could Strengthen Particulate Standards, BNA's Daily Environment Report, 12/06/2012

6 - New Director Named for EPA Transportation Office, BNA's Daily Environment Report, 12/06/2012

7 - Feds in Midlothian today to answer air questions, Dallas Morning News, 12/05/2012

8 - Feds funnel millions into Gulf Coast, Houston Chronicle, 12/05/2012

9 - 63,00-gallon sewer spill on Northwest Side, San Antonio Express-News, 12/05/2012

10 - Texas Brine: Sinkhole gas flow diminishing, Baton Rouge Advocate, 12/06/2012

11 - Researcher links small quakes in Oklahoma to injection wells, Fort Worth Star-Telegram, 12/05/2012

12- Okla. scientist casts doubt on quakes' links to drilling activities, EnergyWire, 12/06/2012

13 - BP engulfed in lawsuit over 40-day Texas flare, The Center for Public Integrity,

12/05/2012

14 - EPA Sends Cement Air Rule To OMB With Late December Deadline Looming,
Inside EPA, 12/05/2012